TRAVEL CONVENIENCE GUIDE

Ranked attractions across the remaining destinations

73 destinations · Excluding Morocco and Malaysia · Scores out of 10

What the score means
A practical estimate of how easy a typical visitor can reach and experience a place: airport and public-transport access, road quality, transfer time, last-mile logistics, walking surface, stairs, terrain, heat exposure and physical effort. It is not a rating of beauty, cultural importance or overall quality.

How to read this edition
Attractions are ranked from easiest to hardest to visit within each destination. A high score generally means straightforward city access and manageable walking. A lower score signals remote roads, boat/4×4 transfers, mountain terrain, long day trips, hiking or limited services. Scores are editorial estimates, not official accessibility certifications.

Scope note
This edition covers the 73 remaining destinations in the previously supplied 81-city programme, after excluding the five Moroccan destinations and the three Malaysian city destinations represented in the Malaysia example. For island, mountain and rural destinations, nearby excursions are included because they are part of the practical visitor experience.

Scoring framework & research limitations

Score bands

9.0–10.0: exceptionally easy; 8.0–8.9: easy with minor planning; 7.0–7.9: manageable with a transfer or some walking; 6.0–6.9: requires planning, car/boat or moderate physical effort; 5.0–5.9: difficult or remote; below 5.0: expedition-style logistics or demanding terrain

Important limitation

This is a broad destination-level research draft, not a verified live-accessibility database. Attraction operating status, ticketing, road conditions, seasonal closures, ferry schedules, permits and security restrictions can change. Local online discussions are anecdotal and may reflect one traveller’s timing or transport choices. Where local firsthand reports were found, they are used as qualitative checks on transport friction; they are not treated as proof for every attraction or every city. The guide does not claim that every attraction has been independently confirmed by a resident.

How traveller reports influenced the guide

Local and traveller discussions support several practical cautions: Uzbekistan's intercity rail is often convenient but popular high-speed seats sell out early; taxi/navigation apps can be more useful than relying on one map service; Turkey has strong urban public transport in major cities, while regional sightseeing often benefits from a rental car; Balkan bus timetables and border journeys can be unpredictable; and Cairo visitors often prefer app-based rides over negotiating street taxis. These are traveller observations, not guarantees.

Recommended verification workflow before production use

1. Confirm each attraction is open and visitor-accessible through its official operator or tourism authority.
2. Verify airport-to-site and city-to-site travel times using current route planners and transport operators.
3. Check local resident discussions for recent road, taxi, bus, ferry, crowd and safety friction.
4. Separate normal visitor access from mobility access; a high convenience score does not certify wheelchair accessibility.
5. Re-score seasonally where weather, monsoon, snow, heat, tides or event closures materially change access.
